

"You are not in this alone," are words Kristin lives by when referring to her journey with breast cancer. She turned to friends and co-workers for support; often looking to her job as a positive distraction. "I run for life," Kristin adds. "Let your family and friends surround and support you. With them, you will garner the strength to fight the battle."

Kristin Gross

S U R V I V O R S I N C E 2 0 0 8

Look no further.

